Tourism in Thompson-Okanagan

Introduction

Thompson-Okanagan is made up of five regional districts, with the Thompson-Nicola region having the largest number of establishments. Kelowna, Kamloops, Vernon, and Penticton are among the urban centres in this region.

Thompson-Okanagan offers travellers a variety of activities. The region is filled with many establishments, with the largest number (393) of any development region in the province. The region gives visitors the opportunity to explore mountains, lakes, and other landscapes while providing a full range of activities such as skiing, boating, golfing, camping, and hiking. The weather in Thompson-Okanagan is typically the warmest in the province throughout the summer months.

Revenues expand in 2002

Room revenues at hotels and other establishments in Thompson-Okanagan continued to grow (+7.7%) in 2002 to $206.6 million. Thompson-Okanagan is one of only two regions that have experienced increases in revenues each year since 1995 (the other being Vancouver Island/Coast). Revenues have grown at an average rate of 6.0% per annum since 1995, which is the same as the province as a whole.

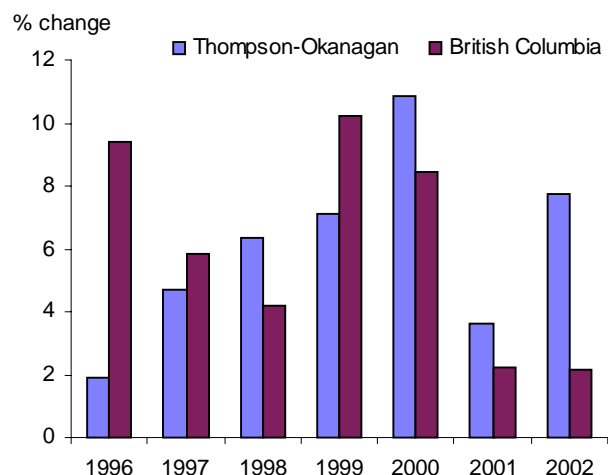

Thompson-Okanagan had a quick recovery from the September 11th, 2001 terrorist attacks in the US. A drop in revenues was apparent in September, followed by an almost immediate recovery to the path that existed prior to the attacks.

Thompson-Okanagan room revenues continue to expand into 2003

Thompson-Okanagan outperformed the province as a whole in 2002 with a 7.7% rise in revenues compared with a 2.2% increase in BC. This is the third consecutive year that the region has outperformed the balance of the province.

Thompson-Okanagan has outpaced BC in terms of revenue growth for three straight years

Thompson-Okanagan is ranked third, behind Vancouver Island/Coast, in terms of room revenue generated in the province. The region was responsible for 13.7% of provincial room revenue in 2002, the same portion it held in 1995.

Thompson-Okanagan accounts for the third largest portion of provincial room revenues

Regional Districts

The Central Okanagan District was responsible for almost one-third (31.2%) of the room revenue in Thompson-Okanagan in 2002. The Okanagan-Similkameen region has expanded the fastest over the past few years with an annual average growth rate of 7.7% since 1995. The Central Okanagan district is not too far behind (7.5%) and the Thompson-Nicola region (4.3%) has seen the slowest average annual growth.

Urban Centres

Kelowna made up over one-quarter (28%) of room revenues for Thompson-Okanagan in 2002. Kamloops contributed 18% and Penticton added 10%. Room revenues in Vernon saw the biggest jump in 2002, growing 11.8%.
